Dear Community Supporters!

Welcome to the New Hampshire Children's Trust 13th Annual Strengthening Families Summit: Powered by Hope, Strengthened by Prevention.

Grounded in the Strengthening Families Framework, the Summit brings together Granite State professionals, community members, and family leaders who share the vision of a New Hampshire where every child thrives, families are strong, and communities are safe, supportive, and resilient.

This year, we will deepen our understanding, strengthen our practices, and explore innovative strategies to build more resilient communities. Together, we recognize that creating safe and nurturing environments is not the work of one person or one system—it is a shared responsibility that requires collective commitment.

We are honored to welcome presenters from across New Hampshire and our keynote speaker, Claire Louge, Executive Director of Prevent Child Abuse Arizona, who will inspire us to reimagine prevention by shifting from surveillance to support.

Through shared learning, cross-sector collaboration, and community engagement, we will continue moving toward a New Hampshire where all families have what they need to succeed.

Thank you for joining us!

MORNING SESSIONS

Heads Up Youth Mental Health Awareness Series: Building Family Resilience

GRANITE BALLROOM | Presented by Amanda Littlefield, Behavioral Health Clinician - Dartmouth Health Children's, Hilary Stark, Lead Recovery Coach and Youth Program Coordinator – Archways, and Heidi Toursie, Children's Department Manager – NAMI NH. Moderated by: Hayley LaPoint, Certified Meteorologist - WMUR

Resilience is a critical skill that enables children to adapt, persevere, and thrive in the face of challenges both big and small. This session will equip participants with knowledge and tools to better support parents in fostering resilience in their children. Participants will explore the essential attributes of resilience—such as adaptability, perseverance, and self-reliance—and why they are so important for children's healthy development.

Please note: this session does not qualify for NASW CEUs.

Protective Factors: 1, 3, 5

Family Threads - An Evidence-based Program Integrating Family Strengthening & Support and Peer Recovery Support

PIERCE ROOM | Presented by Karen Welford - Consultant, Family Threads Program – Archways and Tania Rich - Family Threads Coordinator - Archways

Family Threads is an evidence-based program that combines the principles of Family Strengthening and Support with Peer Recovery Support to help families affected by problematic alcohol or substance use. This session will explore the program and how it is designed for families with children under 18 who are committed to strengthening their family relationships while working toward recovery goals.

Protective Factors: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5

Strengthening Community Connections: The Role of Police Social Work in New Hampshire

MERRIMACK ROOM | Presented by Brooke Murphy, Police Social Worker - Portsmouth Police Department, Nicole Petrin, Police Social Worker - Concord Police Department, Kaitlin Jones, Social Work Unit Supervisor - Dover Police Department, Leah Elliott, Police Social Worker – Nashua Police Department, and Dr. Katie Godshall, Assistant Clinical Professor – University of New Hampshire.

Police Social Work was first introduced in New Hampshire in 2022 and has steadily grown as a vital component of community safety and support across the state. To date, six municipalities have integrated Police Social Work into their departments, with the goal of connecting individuals and families to appropriate resources while easing the burden on first responders for non-urgent matters. This session will highlight the evolution of Police Social Work in New Hampshire, explore the various approaches departments are taking to integrate social workers, and showcase examples of collaboration with community organizations to better meet the needs of individuals and families. Please note: this session does not qualify for CEUs.

Protective Factors: 2, 3

From the Ground Up: Using Frontline Experience to Drive Policy Change

CONCORD ROOM | Presented by Megan Brabec, MPA – NH State Manager – Save the Children Action Network. Professionals who work directly with families and youth hold vital insights that can shape smarter, more responsive public policy. This interactive session will equip attendees to turn their frontline experience into powerful advocacy by learning how to frame their work-based stories, connect them to policy solutions, and confidently engage with lawmakers. Participants will practice the elements of an effective policy meeting and leave with tools to advocate for changes that strengthen families and promote Protective Factors in their communities. Please note: this session does not qualify for NASW CEUs.

Protective Factors: 2, 4

One Trusted Adult: It's Our Mission – Equipping Families and Caregivers to Build Strong Relationships and Resilient Communities

WEBSTER ROOM | Presented by Beth Corkum - Implementation Coach – One Trusted Adult. This session offers a proactive approach to parenting by focusing on young people's greatest protective factor: strong relationships with parents and a team of trusted adults. Participants will learn shared language, strategies, and best practices to support children's growth and resilience.

Protective Factors: 1, 2, 5

AFTERNOON SESSIONS

Considering Yourself a "Mandated Supporter"

PIERCE ROOM | Presented by Claire Louge – Executive Director – Prevent Child Abuse Arizona

You are a mandated reporter, but could you consider yourself a mandated supporter, too? In this session, professionals who work with families and children will examine how they can protect children from adversity by examining their own assumptions and connecting families to what they need, when they need it.

Protective Factors: 2, 3, 5

Eyes on Early Response: The ACERT Model for Cross-Sector Support After Childhood Trauma

WEBSTER ROOM | Presented by Elizabeth DiLuzio – Lead Evaluator - Behavioral Health Improvement Institute at Keene State College and Caitlyn Kearney-Finn - ACERT Community Program Specialist - Amoskeag Health.

This session introduces attendees to the Adverse Childhood Experiences Response Team (ACERT), a cross-sector model that offers coordinated, trauma-informed support to children and families in the immediate aftermath of a crisis. Founded on the principle that early intervention can prevent long-term harm, ACERT brings together police, community mental health professionals, and family service providers to ensure families receive timely, compassionate outreach when they need it most.

Protective Factors: 1, 2, 4

Talking About Disability: Nurturing Belonging and Connection in Children, Families, and Communities

CONCORD ROOM | Presented by Louis Esposito – Executive Director – ABLE NH

This session provides practical strategies for parents, educators, and family advocates to talk with children about disability in ways that foster empathy, belonging, and respect. Drawing from research on child development and education, participants will learn conversation tools and activities that help children view disability as part of the human experience, strengthen family resilience, and build supportive communities.

Protective Factors: 3, 4, 5

Why Child Care is So Expensive and Why It's Worth the Investment for New Hampshire Families, Businesses, and the Granite State Economy

MERRIMACK ROOM | Presented by Nicole Heller - Senior Policy Analyst – NH Fiscal Policy Institute

This session will examine the high costs of child care to families, low earnings for early childhood educators and providers, and the negative economic impacts the child care shortage may be having on the Granite State Economy. This interactive session will include audience discussion and examine the role high-quality early childhood care and education plays within the context of healthy childhood development. Please note: this session does not qualify for NASW CEUs.

Protective Factors: 2, 5

Maternal Mental Health - Supporting the Whole Family

GRANITE BALLROOM | Presented by Heather Martin - Maternal Mental Health Navigator – Dartmouth Health Children's.

Maternal mental health plays a critical role in the well-being of children, partners, and the entire family system. When a mother struggles, it can affect bonding, child development, and family dynamics — yet too often these challenges go unrecognized or unsupported. This session will explore the signs and symptoms of maternal mental health concerns, and will provide practical guidance on how families and professionals can respond with compassion and care. Participants will gain tools to support parents in seeking help, strategies to strengthen resilience during pregnancy and postpartum, and a deeper understanding of how nurturing maternal mental health ultimately strengthens the whole family.

Protective Factors: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5

The Five Protective Factors at the foundation of Strengthening Families are characteristics that have been shown to make positive outcomes more likely for young children and their families, and to reduce the likelihood of child abuse and neglect. Each Session provided at the Summit addresses one or more of these protective factors. Please see below:

1. Parental Resilience • 2. Social Connections • 3. Concrete Support in Times of Need
4. Knowledge of Child Development • 5. Social and Emotional Competence of Children

Parents have an important role in advocating for their children and improving their communities, and professionals who work with children and families can help parents be their best by promoting the development of these five protective factors:

- Parental Resilience: "I will continue to have courage during stress or after a crisis."
- Concrete Support in Times of Need: "My family has access to basic needs."
- Social Connections: "I have friendships with people who support me and my parenting."
- Knowledge of Parenting and Child Development: "I know what my child needs as she grows and develops."
- Social and Emotional Competence of Children: "My child feels loved, has a sense of belonging, and can get along with others."

Congratulations to our Awardees

Lucy Fowlkes Breed Awardee

The Lucy Fowlkes Breed Award recognizes an individual who has dedicated their time and efforts to strengthening families and communities across New Hampshire through volunteer work. An awardee will have volunteered in direct service at a New Hampshire organization that serves children or families within the past two years. Named after Lucy Fowlkes Breed, a founding trustee on the Board of NH Children's Trust and founder and volunteer facilitator of the "New Moms" group at the Children's Place and Parent Education Center in Concord.

Sylvia has been supporting NH families coping with childhood cancer for over 20 years as a volunteer and founding member of the Childhood Cancer Lifeline of New Hampshire. As a parent of children diagnosed with pediatric cancer, she leveraged her lived experience to create an organization that addresses the practical and emotional support needs of other families. In addition to her volunteer work, Sylvia serves professionally as the Director of NH Family Voices, where she has been a steadfast advocate for families of children with disabilities and special healthcare needs. Her compassion, leadership, and dedication embody the very spirit of the Lucy Fowlkes Breed Award.

An awardee must have made a statewide impact on children and families through advocacy, direct care, policy, or funding, and have at least ten years of service to children and families in NH. Named after Dr. Robert Chamberlin, a public health pediatrician and longtime advocate for children, families, and the importance of prevention programming.

Rebecca's career as a public policy leader and attorney has focused on ensuring every child grows up safe, healthy, and supported.
